The projects also contribute to strengthening the quality and the role of youth work in Europe.

Erasmus+ is the European Union's programme for boosting skills and employability through activities organised in the field of education, training, youth, and sport. Youth activities under Erasmus+ aim to improve the key competences, skills and employability of young people, promote young people's active participation in the society, their social inclusion and well-being, and foster improvements in youth work and youth policy at local, national and international level.

A State of the Art Analysis focused on the current experience and the use of CLIL methodology in primary schools and a review of existing web based Open and Educational Resources for CLIL.

A pilot of the Methodology and of the main intellectual outputs: Guidelines on development and use of CLIL in primary schools, CLIL materials and lesson plans for teaching science, mathematics and geography in English, an E-course addressed to teachers on how to use CLIL methodology in primary schools.

Among the results of the project are the following:

During the Mobility C1 held in Pitesti, Romania, researchers shared ideas and best practice examples from their countries about the use of the CLIL methodology in primary schools. They worked together on a Concept Note about the Methodology to be developed by the project.
